

Nuntium

-A Publication of Providence Classical School-

Homecoming

This month, we held our second annual Spirit Week, which culminated in homecoming at the student vs. faculty basketball game. During halftime, the court was presented, and a King, Queen, Prince, and Princess were crowned. It was a joy to celebrate the life and growth of PCS with so many families, friends, students, and alumni.

Pictured above, L to R: Homecoming King, CJ Matthews; Homecoming Queen, Macey Thompson; Homecoming Prince, Johnny Opala; Homecoming Princess, Mia Bonfilii.

Spring Sports: Track & Field

Spring 2023 was PCS's inaugural season of track and field, coached by PCS dads Sean Baxter and Brian Lahr. With a short season consisting of only two meets, our Paladins ran well, and several students placed in their events. We look forward to growing the team next year.

Pictured left: Tenth grader Bryson Lahr competing in the 100-meter sprint.

Classroom Snapshots: Interactive Learning

Throughout the school year, PCS teachers provide various hands-on learning activities for their students in order to apply what they have been learning in a fun, interactive way. On March 14th, as a celebration of Pi Day, Dr. Davis' pre-calculus class was assigned various math problems to be completed with a string and a calculator.

In sixth grade, with Mr. Cêbra and Mrs. Knecht, the students dissected flowers as part of their science lab. They carefully cut the flowers open and identified the different parts, putting together a lab report. They grew in their understanding of the biological world and were in awe of our Creator.

Pictured above, L to R: Pre-calculus class incorporating food into their math problems. Sixth graders, Lucas Borders and Isla Clark participating in the lab.

Message from the Head of School

On Monday morning, March 27th, our faculty and staff sat in active shooter training with the RHPD as the tragedy in Nashville unfolded. Our hearts go out to this fellow Christian school, and we are resolved to do all we can to prepare for and protect against such an attack. The officers on our campus praised the protocols we have in place, including an armed safety officer, which is a measure the school in Nashville did not have. Our students and staff practice our lockdown protocols, and we will continue to strive to strengthen our security measures and preparedness. While it is imperative that we do all we can to keep our students safe, we know we are not called to live in fear. We must entrust our children's lives to the providential care of the Father, who loves them even more than we do, knowing that the safest place to be is in His hands. Join me in praying for the families in Nashville who are grieving and for the protection and safety of Christian schools like ours across the nation.

UPCOMING EVENTS:

April 28th - Talent Show, 6pm at Forest Hill (Fort Mill campus). There will be dinner, concessions, and a silent auction. Please join us!